SIMPLY QUICK AND CLEAN

The current ammunition give much gun-powder residue on the track of the shooting floor. Afterwards sweeping will result in the residual powder from the floor to be mixed with the air, which can have adverse effects for personal.

For health reasons, it is also not advisable to pick up the casings, as residues from the casing will come into contact with the skin.

To AUTRON the case collector is placed on the European market for health and safety reasons.

Through a studded roll the casings are picked up from the floor and deposited in the basket of the case collector. The basket can simply be removed from the case collector and the contents can be deposited in the appropriate waste container.
